You are not dense, David; just lucky. Carey is a reporter trying to write a piece on glyphosate testing in the US – See below. She is quite persistent; however Deliberative Process / Ex. 5 that has its own pace. Kinda like the oak and the calf.

Can you tell your people please that I may have to go ahead with a story based on USDA saying FDA was doing this testing. If you don't have your talking points in order at the very least perhaps you could just clarify on the record what USDA has already said on the record. I have to have the story filed no later than Thursday afternoon and I would like it to be as complete and accurate as possible. I would think FDA would want the same thing. I know you're not the hold up on this, but if you could perhaps explain it to the communication team in those terms, maybe it would spur them on a bit more. I am also happy to talk with them if you want to point me to the correct individual.

Bests,
Carey
